

Covid-19 and Mutual Aid Workshop

Thu 30 Sept 2021 from 13:00 to 16:30

Mutual Aid, Community, and Inequality.

This inter-disciplinary workshop brings together researchers across the UK who have been looking at community responses to the Covid-19 pandemic, and the ways the crisis intersects with the legacies of a decade of Austerity policy.

Email oralhistory@newcastle.ac.uk to register your interest

Or go to the Eventbrite page at <https://tinyurl.com/yhs7bn69>

KEYNOTE 13:00 to 13:45

Maddy Power, Research Fellow in the Department of Health Sciences, University of York
Mutual aid and food aid: inequality, institutionalised charity, and progressive possibilities

MUTUAL AID RESEARCH ACROSS THE DISCIPLINES 14:00 to 15:00

Emma O'Dwyer, Kingston University
Guan Mao, University of Sussex
Catherine O'Neill, Teeside University
Presentation titles to be confirmed

THE FUTURE OF MUTUAL AID 15:15 to 16:30

Alison Atkinson-Phillips, Newcastle University and Silvie Fisch, Northern Cultural Projects
Covid-19 Mutual Aid Oral History Project
Steph Scott and Shelina Visram, Newcastle University
'This is about more than just food': understanding community aid responses to food insecurity during the pandemic
Respondent: Rhiannon Firth

